Member, ABIM Board of Directors

To pursue a career in internal medicine, you must have it—an absolute dedication to putting progress into practice, a constant search for better care, healthier patient outcomes, and life-changing discoveries. Yet the path to sustained achievement requires a support system, and that’s where ABIM comes in. We’ve dedicated the past 80 years to advancing the practice of internal medicine, innovating our programs along the way to help you keep up. Today, we are redefining the maintenance of certification experience as we open the door to the Longitudinal Knowledge Assessment. Connect to a revolutionary, on-demand, interactive continuing assessment platform that gives you convenient access to questions, references, and rationales that flex to the variable demands of your lifestyle.

At your pace.

Every quarter, you’ll receive a set of new assessment questions. You’ll have four minutes of answer time for each and will get immediate feedback, including references and rationales for the correct and incorrect answers. And you have a bank of 30 extra minutes if you need more time. Plus, you can answer a few at a time and come back later to complete that quarter’s questions. Whatever works best for you. We calculate your final score at the conclusion of a 5-year cycle and provide continuous feedback to keep perpetual learning in motion.

On your schedule.

We understand that physicians need downtime and sometimes life happens. That’s why we give you the freedom to skip up to 100 out of the 600 questions offered over the 5-year cycle if something comes up, such as medical issues, vacations, weddings or other personal events. It’s all up to you. We give you the ability to personalize the way you participate.

Without high-stakes pressure.

You won’t lose your certification if you don’t achieve a passing score at the end of your five-year cycle. Instead, you’ll then have the opportunity to take the traditional, 10-year MOC exam to achieve a passing score.
